QUEEN LIL'S RECRUITS.

She Gets Them in the United States and Canada.

The Hawaiian Government Alarmed at the Situation—Fears of Outbreak Canvassed.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 10.—The steamer Australia, six and one-half days from Honolulu, arrived today, and brought the following advices:

HONOLULU, March 3, 1894.

Every steamer that has arrived here during the last two months has brought a number of steerage passengers who have secreted to have no visible means of support and no good reason for coming to the islands. This has occurred so often and Honolulu is becoming so overrun with these strangers that the idea has become prevalent that they come in the interests of the ex queen. It has been reported to the government and on seemingly good authority that the agents of Liliuokalani have been recruiting men in both the United States and British Columbia, principally the latter.

For some time the government refused to believe such rumors, but of late suspicion has been aroused and active steps have been taken to nip in the bud any plot that the royalists may have of restoring the queen by force. It is claimed that a number of these men have enlisted in the army and are ready at the first sign of any trouble to join the royalists in an attack upon the government. A bill was passed by the councils on Thursday last that will stop the coming of any more people of this class. It is to the effect that any alien who lands here must furnish good evidence that he comes with no intention of destitute to the government and that he must be able to show that he has means of supporting himself while here. Another bill that was passed the same day provides for the deportation of all persons now in the islands in relation to whom there is probable cause to believe that he entertains any unlawful intentions contrary to the established system of government. Such persons may be arrested, and, if found guilty, be banished from the country for a space of six years, or may be imprisoned at hard labor here for one year.

HIS WIFE'S NAME IS LEGION.

Harry Temple, of Wabash, a Much Married Man.

WABASH, Ind., March 10.—Mrs. Hattie Temple, wife of Harry Temple, the bigamist under arrest at Martins Ferry, Ohio, arrived at her home in this city yesterday, accompanied by wife No. 2, a prepossessing blonde of twenty, whom Temple married on January 3, 1894, at Lonoir, N. C. After the marriage Temple left her at the St. Charles hotel, Wheeling, W. Va., he going on to Columbus, Ohio, from which point he wrote her to return to Lenoir. He went back to Wheeling, where he was arrested for burglary and locked up. He requested the newspapers to say nothing of his arrest, because it would ruin his business, but his petition was not granted. Letters were found which proved that he had two other wives, and the Wabash wife was summoned to appear against him. Mrs. Temple No. 1, the Wabash wife, said that when she entered the jail her little boy recognized Temple, calling him "papa," and that Temple nearly fainted away. Wife No. 2 is an Indianapolis girl, named Mamie Peter. Temple's trial is set for March 26, and until that date Mrs. Temple Nos. 1 and 3 will remain in Wabash.

HORSE TRADERS KILLED.

Their Cook Arrested on Suspicion of the Double Murder.

PARIS, Ark., March 10.—News reached here yesterday of a terrible double murder committed four miles south of Booneville, this county. The crime was evidently committed Sunday night, February 25. Two horse traders and their cook, a young man about twenty-five years old, went into camp in an outhouse near Booneville on that date. That night pistol shots were heard and the next day the young man was seen and the two horse traders were missing. That evening the house they had camped in burned down. It was noticed that the young man was in possession of the horses and cattle that had belonged to the traders. Citizens began to suspect foul play and found that the ashes the bones of two human beings. The young man was arrested on the charge of murder.

MAY SETTLE THE CASE.

A Movement to Dismiss the Charges Against Bank Directors.

NEW YORK, March 10.—The directors of the defunct Commercial bank of Brooklyn, some of whom are under indictment, may not be prosecuted, owing to the fact that they have agreed to buy the worthless mortgages held by the institution and to pay the depositors every dollar due them. There are about one hundred and fifty depositors, and they are to bring civil suits for damages, so the directors were forced to take the course they have. If it can be shown that some of these mortgages were not valueless, Cashier John T. Vail will be relieved of some of the blame put upon him.

Charles Knoll Sends to Germany for the Original and Marries Her.

LAFOREE, Ind., March 10.—Charles Knoll and Mary Mellenbin were romantically married in this city today by Dr. Eslinger, of the German M. E. church. About a year ago Knoll came here from Germany and secured employment as a mason. Shortly afterward a friend showed him a photograph of Miss Mellenbin, then living in the fatherland, and he was smitten with her looks. Correspondence ensued, and, in obedience to his summons, the young woman came to this city. She arrived a day or two ago, and no time was lost by the couple in getting married.

SUDDEN DEATH.

Ex-Speaker Hewitt Stricken Down With Rheumatism.

He Served His Country During the War as Soldier and Later as a Legislator.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Pa., March 10.—Ex-Speaker Benjamin L. Hewit died last night after a brief illness. He recently went to Philadelphia to be treated for rheumatism and returned home apparently improved. He suffered a relapse, however, and succumbed to the disease. Mr. Hewit was a prominent member of the last legislature and took a leading part in all of the debates. He was speaker of the house during the session of 1881-'83. After graduating from Princeton college in 1844, he studied law and was admitted to the bar two years later. He served in the army during the late war as paymaster. Mr. Hewit was five times elected a member of the house of representatives from Blair county and for eleven years was a state bank commissioner. He was in his sixty-first year.

THE INDUSTRIES OF INDIANA.

A Census Bulletin Gives the Statistics of the Principal Cities.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 10.—There was issued from the census office last evening a bulletin giving statistics of manufactures from cities having a population of over 20,000 in 1890. The following figures relate to Indianapolis: Number of establishments reporting, 1,189; value of property hired, $3,734,525; aggregate investment, including land, buildings, machinery, tools and implements, raw materials and finished product, $15,296,985; cash and accounts receivable, $3,897,675; rent paid for tenancy, $301,187; taxes, $250,479; insurance, $135,332; repairs, $151,555; amount paid to contractors, $298,325; interest paid on cash used in the business, $161,238; average number of employed, 18,061; total wages, $8,954,812; number of officers in firms, 1,181, who receive wages aggregating $1,676,258. The statistics relating to skilled and unskilled operatives in Indianapolis in 1890 placed the number of operatives at 253 females above fifteen years; males, above sixteen years, 16,732; females, above fifteen years, 1,374; children, 449. The latter were paid in wages in 1890, $66,365; females, above fifteen years, $336,968; males, above sixteen years, $6,466,378; females, above fifteen years, $145,259.

Evansville reports: Number of establishments, 482; investment, $2,160,859; live assets, $2,430,662; number of employes, 7,435; total wages, $1,197,298.

Fort Wayne statistics give: Number of establishments, 235; value of plants, $6,969,590; employes, 6,011; total wages, $2,696,318.

MAKING NO PROGRESS.

The Insurgents at Rio Dating Practically Nothing.

RIO DE JANEIRO, March 10.—It is officially announced that the insurgents have made no progress in their march upon Sao Paulo and that state is prepared to repel the invasion with its own resources. It is added that no danger is feared from any rebel force coming from Rio Grande do Sul, as it would be unable to cross the frontier. Martial law is only enforced in the states of Pernambuco, Sao Paulo, Parana, Santa Catarina and Rio de Janeiro. By the presidential decree, which was issued on February 18, crimes connected with the rebellion alone will be tried before military courts.

EMPEROR MUTSUHITO

Celebrates the Twenty-fifth Anniversary of His Marriage.

YOKOHAMA, March 10.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the marriage of Emperor Mutsuhito, who was married February 9, 1869, to Haruko, daughter of the late Tadaka, of the house of Fondjiwara Hichido, was celebrated today throughout the country. The emperor has three children, Prince Yoshihito Haronomiya, the heir to the throne, who was born August 31, and two daughters, Princess Masako Tsunenomia and Princess Fusako Kanonomija.

Justice White.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The present understanding at the supreme court is that Associate Justice White, of Louisiana, will be sworn in next Monday at the opening of court. The court officials have not been advised of Mr. White's desires in the matter but have their belief on the fact that his resignation as a senator from Louisiana will take effect on Monday. Representative Blanchard expects his commission as senator today and if it is received he will enter upon his new duties Monday.

Given Six Months.

NEW YORK, March 10.—James H. Farley was sentenced to six months in prison yesterday for bigamy. He had pleaded in extenuation that he was subject to epileptic fits and that he was in an epileptic condition when he contracted the bigamous marriage and did not realize what he was doing.

Fred Schumacker's horse ran away on Columbia street this morning, smashing the buggy but doing no other damage.

SENATOR HILL.

Report That He Will Wed Miss Letty Scott.

The Lady is the Niece of Vice President Stevenson and the Belle of Louisville.

LOUISVILLE, March 10.—Kentucky society is in a flutter today by the announcement of the reported engagement of Miss Letty Scott, a well known belle, and Senator David B. Hill, of New York. The report lacks confirmation or denial, for the reason that both parties are at present at Washington. Miss Scott is the niece of Vice President Stevenson, and according to the report printed in the Times this afternoon, she was visiting her aunt at Washington when she met the senator. An engagement is said to have followed. Miss Scott is a beautiful young woman and, while Blooming ton, Ill., is the place of her nativity, she is the daughter of a Kentuckian, her father, the late M. L. Scott, having resided at Lexington. Her mother and Mrs. Stevenson are sisters. Her relatives have refused to discuss the reported engagement.

COSTELLO'S BOND FORFEITED.

Judge Gillett Appoints a Special Judge in Other Roby Suits.

HAMMOND, Ind., March 10.—Final judgment was today rendered by Judge Gillett on the $1,000 bond which Martin Costello, the convicted prizefighter, recently forfeited by fleeing to Canada. The court appointed ex-Senator A. W. Ponchon as special judge in the suits which Prosecutor Willis E. McMahon will bring to foreclose the forfeiture of three similar bonds of $1,000 each. The appointment was made on account of Judge Langdon's nonappearance. The other suits against President Donelson O'Malley and other members of the defunct Columbian Athletic association have been set for an adjourned term of the Lake circuit and will be heard the week beginning April 23. There are twenty-one charges of riotous conspiracy against the members of the club. The bond, which was today declared forfeited, was signed by M. T. Towle, tanker; Maurice Champaign, president of the Roby Athletic club, and A. W. Warren, real estate dealer. They are amply indemnified, and will not lose a centavo if all the bonds are declared forfeited.

TELEPATHIC ADVANCE NOTICES.

Case of an Indiana Woman Who Dreams of Future Events.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., March 9.—Mrs. Nora Miller, living near this city, says that, coming events of personal concern are often revealed to her through dreams. She always knows when important things are going to happen, she says, especially if they are going to affect her. As an example, her last pension paper had been sent away improperly signed, yet she was ignorant of the same until the night she dreamed her application was coming back because it had not been signed in full. This morning's mail brought it back for correction and the old lady was greatly pleased with her dream disclosures. Before its return she had told others that it would surely come back for correction.

LEAVING BLUEFIELDS.

Citizens Don't Like the Government of Nicaragua.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Captain Crowell, of the steamer Premier, which arrived today from Bluefields, states that a large number of inhabitants of Bluefields were leaving the town owing to the recent change of government. This town formerly belonged to the Mosquito reservation, but previous to the sailing of the Premier, the Nicaraguan standard has been hoisted and the adjacent country became Nicaraguan territory. The British man-of-war Cleopatra which, as cabled from Colon to the Associated Press, had landed a force of eighty men and officers at Bluefields, had not arrived up to the time of the Premier's sailing.

SHELLED THE TOWN.

British War Ships Open Fire on Corinto.

HAVANA, March 10.—The British warships under the command of Admiral Bedford yesterday shelled the town in the vicinity of Corinto and when the enemy was supposed to have been driven out, 500 blue jackets and marines were landed and marched upon the town which was found to be deserted. Corinto was then set fire to and burned to the ground. Chief Podinish is supposed to be at Sarayana, upon which place the soldiers of a West India regiment are marching. The war against Chief Podinish is practically ended.

A FATAL DOSE.

Took Too Spoonful of Extract of Colocynth.

DEFIANCE, Ohio, March 10.—Mrs. Thos. M. Holmes, who took a large dose of extract of colocynth to prove that she had not poisoned her daughter, died last night. The daughter died from poison and the mother was accused of having administered the fatal dose. She denied the charge, claiming the medicine was for liver trouble. To demonstrate that she was acting in good faith she took two spoonsful of the drug herself with the above result. She lived a week. It is believed now that the poison was placed in the medicine by an unknown person.

WILL START UP.

Mills Which Have Been Shut Down for Months.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 10.—The employes of the A. L. Sayles & Co.'s tandem mill at Pacific have been notified that the mills will start on full time Monday, after a shut down of several months, under a ten per cent. cut down. The William Orcell woolen mill at Glendale, which has been partially shut down for several months, will start on full time Monday, under a ten per cent. reduction in wages.

HAMPERED IN THE WORK

Wheels of Legislation Blocked by Many Obstacles.

The Senate Committee on Finance Meet on Tariff Bill Work. But Accomplish Nothing.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The senate committee on finance met this morning at 10:30 o'clock for the purpose of considering the tariff bill as presented by the democratic majority. Only seven of the eleven members of the committee were present, Senators Jones of Nevada, Vance, McPherson and Sherman being the absentees. McPherson was called off of the city yesterday by the illness of a member of his family, and Senator Sherman was himself indisposed. The committee examined the details of the bill and discussed its salient features. They were hampered in this work, however, by opposition to the resolution to examine the bill and suggest amendments. The republican members will make an effort to secure some changes and if they meet with success in a few will probably try to secure others. They are hopeful from assurance that Senator McPherson is said to have given persons who have called upon him, that he will join with them in trying to secure the modification of several schedules and if he should pursue this plan, the bill will be amended to the extent that he may be willing to cooperate with the republicans, as they will probably cast a solid vote, so that his vote would give them a majority.

STRUCK TWO HARD.

A Boxing Match May Result in a Death.

CHICAGO, March 10.—In a friendly boxing bout between A. W. Crane, a local boxing celebrity and Mike Sullivan, a railroad clerk, which took place at the Chicago Athletic club house last night, the latter received a heavy blow over the heart which is likely to result fatally. Sullivan's opponent has not been arrested.

COLUMBIAN GUARDS.

Seventy-two of Them Go on a Strike.

CHICAGO, March 10.—The world's fair grounds are guarded today by but eight men, as the result of a strike of the remnant of the Columbian guard. Seventy-two guards have thrown down their swords because of the reducing to the ranks of a popular sergeant while an unpopular officer was continued in the service.

IN HIS OFFICE!

Dr. Younge Assaulted by Attorney Emrick.

The Former is Severely Beaten,

And Conveyed to His Home in a Hack.

The Affair Grows Out of Lawsuits and an Anonymous Publication—Both Parties Interviewed.

THE well known attorney, E. V. Emrick, last evening, about 6 o'clock, went to the office of Dr. J. W. Younge, in the second story of the building at the corner of Lewis and Calhoun streets, and administered to the latter a severe thrashing, inflicting injuries about the face and head that left the doctor in such a condition that he had to be conveyed to his home in a hack.

The affair created intense excitement, because of the prominence of the parties concerned, and was the talk of every one on the streets last evening and today.

The direct cause of the attack made by Mr. Emrick on Dr. Younge was on account of an article which appeared in a publication called "Cold Facts," reflecting upon the character of Mr. Emrick. The article was one of the most scurrilous that ever appeared in print in this city and attributed immorality of the grossest kind to Mr. Emrick, the details being too filthy for a republication in these columns. There were many copies of the paper sent through the mails to parties in this city and county, the object evidently being to injure Mr. Emrick's political prospects, he being a candidate for the office of prosecuting attorney before the democratic county convention, which will meet in a few months. Many copies of the paper sent were intercepted in the mails and thrown out, because of their being obscene literature.

There had been previous difficulties between Mr. Emrick and Dr. Younge, resulting from the fact that the former, as attorney for one of his clients, had brought an action suit against the latter, which matter, however, had been adjusted, and when Mr. Emrick saw the article in the "Cold Facts" he attributed the authorship to Dr. Younge. He maintained that the conclusions used in it were the identical words used by his enemy upon the street and that the immoral acts alleged against him were the same as those which Dr. Younge publicly denounced. Certain allusions to secret societies to which both belonged were mentioned in the paper and this Emrick and his friends took as further evidence that Dr. Younge was the author of the paper.

The shot appeared a few days ago and since then Mr. Emrick has been consulting his friends as to what he should do in the matter, and it seems that he decided on whipping Dr. Younge, and this decision he proceeded to carry into effect last evening, after he made some investigations into the affair and made up his own mind that Dr. Younge was the author of the publications made about him.

He went to the office of Dr. Younge, at the time referred to above, and there the assault occurred, but as no one was present except the two actors, the exact details are not known, and as much of them as can be obtained are given in the interviews with Mr. Emrick and Dr. Younge which are published below.

The first known of the encounter was when Dr. Younge appeared at the bottom of the stairway, his face covered with blood, and calling for assistance. Mr. Emrich having left the office more visibly and going down Calhoun street to the Crescent restaurant, where he took a lunch as if nothing unusual had happened.

As soon as Dr. Younge was found Calvin Burnham, of the Indiana Furniture company, which establishment is near the scene of the affair, telephoned for a hack and when it came Dr. Younge was taken to his home where his injuries were dressed by Dr. Myers.

Mr. Emrick, the assailant, is well known in local politics, having stumped the county for several years. He was for a long time the deputy prosecuting attorney and is now the chairman of the democratic city central committee. Dr. Younge is also well known not only in this city but throughout Indiana and Ohio where he has been traveling in the practice of his profession.

DR. YOUNGE'S STATEMENT.

Dr. Younge's injuries are not considered of a dangerous character, but are very severe, and to be appreciated should be seen.

A SENTINEL representative called at the residence, 56 South Webster street, this morning at 11 o'clock, and found the doctor suffering great pain. He lay in the front upstairs bedroom, and damp cloths covered his entire face. When the reporter approached the bed the doctor lifted one corner of the cloth and looked up out of his light eye.

"Yes, I am badly hurt," said he, "you can see for yourself," and he lifted off the cloth which covered his face.

The doctor presented a shocking appearance and no one could have possibly recognized him owing to the injuries. The entire left side of his face presented the appearance of a freshly cut steak and was frightfully swollen. His left eye was entirely closed, and the eyelids could scarcely be discerned. His mouth was cut and bruised and his lips were swollen to four times their natural size. There were several bruises on his forehead and he complained of continual pains in the chest and back.

When asked if he had anything to say, the doctor requested the reporter to write the following statement as dictated.

THE STATEMENT.

"Emrick is not vindicated. It is no vindication for a man six feet high, weighing two hundred pounds, to assault an unarmed, old man, five feet, three inches high, weighing one hundred and thirty pounds. The place to vindicate himself was in the court room. I am prepared to prove every assertion contained in the article in 'Cold Facts,' regardless of who wrote them.

After having dictated this statement Dr. Younge described the assault. He said: "I was alone in my office when Emrick called. I went to the door and opened it. Emrick pushed himself in and grabbing me by the throat began cursing, at the same time saying he would kill me if I ever wrote another line about him. He then struck me in the face twelve or fifteen times with a pair of brass knuckles and then went through my pockets to see if I was armed. He held me by the throat all the time to prevent my falling and threw me on the lounge and left. I think his brother was at the foot of the stairs."

REFER TO MY ATTORNEY.

"Do you propose bringing any suits?" the doctor was asked.

"Not securedly," replied the doctor. "I intend to bring three actions: One for assault with intent to kill; one a civil case for damages, and I also intend to have everyone connected with the recent abortion case arrested on the grounds of conspiracy to blackmail. Mr. Bell, of the Big Four, my attorney, will be here this afternoon and will instruct him what I want done."

Dr. W. H. Myers is attending Dr. Younge and it will be some time before he will be able to appear on the streets.

MR. EMRICK TALKS.

Attorney E. V. Emrick was seen in his office on East Main street, at 9 o'clock this morning, by a SENTINEL reporter. He was attending to his law business as though nothing had happened.

"I have only this to say," said he, "Dr. Younge has been making a practice of attacking the character of citizens of Fort Wayne and other places prominently without regard to sex. He has been doing this in a way that no one could reach him through the law, as any citizen who has lived in Fort Wayne any length of time knows. I felt, as did a great many other people of Fort Wayne, that there was only one way to reach a man of his character and I believe it is of public interest to the people of Allen county to know whether or not he can continue this kind of work.

"I went to the office alone and administered a sound thrashing to Dr. Younge and while I am ashamed of having to resort to a personal encounter with such a man I felt that it was the only course left for me under the circumstances."

"Did you use a weapon, Mr. Emrick?" was asked.

"No, I struck him with my right hand. I had no 'black jack' or brass knuckles as the doctor states. If I had been armed with the case which I usually carry, I would have given him a sound caning."

"Was the doctor armed?"

"I don't know, but he reached for his pistol pocket when I attacked him and I understand that he carries one or two revolvers all the time."

Mr. Emrick did not seem inclined to talk about the encounter. He did not show any marks of the recent battle and was busy last night in talking to a large number of his friends and acquaintances who gathered in his office after the battle.

A SURLY TRAMP.

He Badly Frightens Mrs. Dr. Heaton, of Lakeside.

The Hobo Fired Six and Sent to Jail—A Wounds Sent Up—Police Court.

At an early hour this morning a big, dirty tramp called at the residence of Dr. C. E. Heaton, in Lakeside, and asked for something to eat. The doctor had just gone to the drug store and Mrs. Heaton was all alone. The tramp was very surly and after having been given some food demanded more, using threatening language. Mrs. Heaton was badly frightened and gave the tramp some more food and then shut the door and bolted it. The tramp attempted to enter the house and tried the window but, as he could not get in, went to one of the neighbors. Mr. Heaton ran to the telephone and called up the doctor, who sent a policeman after the hobo. The tramp was caught by Deputy Sheriff Meisching and Officer McCrory at the Columbia street bridge and was taken to the station house. The fellow said his name was August Meyers, and seemed to have his little sense. He was fined $25 and costs.

DRUNKEN WOMAN.

Last evening Officer Petgen was called to the residence of A. Cohagen, 46 West Berry street, where Mrs. Laura O'Hear was unmercifully beating one of Mr. Cohagen's children. Officer Petgen took the woman to the station and this morning she was fined $5 and costs. The officer said the woman was drunk at the time she was arrested. She went to jail.

Thomas Armstrong was fined $1 and cost for being drunk.

NOVEL PROVOKE SUIT

Growing Out of Poetry Read in a Literary Society.

Judgment Given in a Slander Suit—Two Witnesses Greatest by Judge O'Rourke.

Harry G. Crawford has filed an affidavit in the court of Justice Harry France against Christian Ambler for slander. At a meeting of a literary society held in Aboite township a few weeks ago Alice Crawford, the sister of Harry Crawford, read a humorous poem, which contained a reflection on Ambler. The lines referring to Mr. Ambler read as follows:

"There sits Christian Ambler, with a reigning new moon for a mouth."

At the next meeting of the society Mr. Ambler read an article, referring to Miss Crawford, as follows:

"There is a woman with only four ounces of brains. If she had more hair on her head and more brains she would have passed an examination in stenography in Fort Wayne."

Miss Crawford was not present and her brother was angered by this reflection on her and had Ambler arrested for provoke.

In the superior court the slander suit of Ritchech Shafter against Fred Henderson was withdrawn from the jury and the evidence submitted to Judge Dawson, who gave the plaintiff a judgment of $100 damages. The defendant was charged with having called the plaintiff a thief.

Judge O'Rourke gave Mary Darnell a divorce from Andrew Darnell, the former representative of the county in the legislature. Maud Griffith was also given a divorce from Morris Griffith.

"KID" REED WINS.

He Knocks the Muncie End Out in Eleven Rounds.

MADISON, Ind., March 10.—Mary Anderson and Madison sports went on the steamer VanMeter last night to a point on the Kentucky river, twelve miles above Madison, and witnessed a prize contest for $200 and the feather weight championship between Samuel Morrett, of Muncie, and "Kid" Reed, of Anderson. Reed won in eleven rounds.

FOUND BOMBS.

Boys, While at Play, Come Across the Deadly Dynamite.

NEW YORK, March 10.—Three boys playing in the sand lots at Williamsburg, found a tin box containing six bombs. Joseph Hoffman, thirteen years old, threw one of the bombs at a bowlder and was frightfully injured. The locality is infested by anarchists and Johann Most lives near by.

Presidential Postmasters.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The commissions of III presidential postmasters expire during the month. About 130 more will expire in April. Exactly 909 expired during the last three months as follows: December, 472; January, 351, and February, 176. Of these cases 520 or 300 have not yet been acted on, although practically all have been taken under consideration by the postmaster general. In twenty-two cases where commissions expired in December and forty in January no recommendations by filling the vacancies have been sent in to the president.

NYE IN NEW ENGLAND

THE CLIMATE DIFFERS SOMEWHAT FROM THAT OF NORTH CAROLINA.

What a Young Doctor Has to Say on the Subject—Mr. Tolliver Experiments With Calomel—The Man Who Has Indigestion—The Question of Propinquity.

[Copyright, 1894, by Edgar W. Nye.]

IN NEW ENGLAND FOR A FEW WEEKS.] Feb. 20.

The winter has certainly been tempered to the slow lamb up to this writing, and the unemployed have cooped what would have been with a whiter like that of last year a season of suffering and even death.

I met a young doctor yesterday in Rhode Island who told me that he once started in to practice medicine in North Carolina at Buckhorn or somewhere on the Murphy Branch.

"How did you like it?" I asked, wishing to appear interested.

"Well, I soon wearied of it," he replied drowsily. "It is a beautiful country there, and the air is like a healing balm balm the livelong day, but the persons who live along the Murphy Branch and the Buckhorn road give me a long, darting pain in the neck. I practiced there among the copper-colored young many till they had swallowed three chemical thermometers on me, and then I thought it was time to quit. My practice here is small, but my patients do not die here with their surbonnets on.

I live first just to clear the strong prejudice which exists between the dead in the vast Yankee and the hot belief of Buckhorn and the Murphy Branch, near where I live. Of course, we have our pauperism, but why should we be maligned on that account?

My neighbor, Mr. Tolliver, who runs the Arden Park hotel, says that he bought chickens all summer at 15 cents apiece for boarders, and that they were almost indistinguishable from the night and sold to him at 10 cents in the morning. These people don't mean anything by this. They think it is wit to make you feel badly, but just because they do not see any other way of obtaining an honest livelihood.

Last year I discovered that my railroad ticket on the New York, New Haven and Hartford road read "Good either way." This surprised me because I had not been used to that, and, in fact, I had to, years ago, walk over 52 miles in order to ride back on a ticket which I bought of a conductor, and which ran in the wrong direction. I found after it was too late.

Inquiring about this matter, I learned that years ago a quiet gentleman of medium height riding from Bridgeport to Providence purchased his ticket and was told by the conductor that it would not work in that direction. The quiet gentleman of medium height said that, if not, the question should be settled at the earliest moment. He was not noisy or belligerent, but he is known to fame from the ocean to the ocean, breaking an arm and injuring him considerably. Holding his value in one hand and his money in the other, he went to an attorney and counselor at law practicing in all the courts, conversing day and deep-rooted taken within you wall.

Seeing this new circumstance with him, the quiet gentleman gave the case into his hands, and then holding a shaver that was going by he handed for the lunch. He slowly gained strength, but never fully recovered. The case was lost over and over again in the lower courts and hung on for years. The poor crippled gentleman of medium height clung to his case, however, and demanded his $100,000, even though he had to borrow money to pay his lawyers.

Time passed on, and he grew feeble, for the chasm in his mind refused to unite and relain even his branded principles, but at last the supreme court of the United States, which was not at that time waiting for two solid New Yorkers to fill it up, decided in his favor

SOME SURPRISING ADVENTURES.

A Collection of Entertaining Tales Illustrative of Bruin's Sagacity and Ferocity. An Adventure In the Arctics—How a Bear Vanquished Cupid.

Gentlemen when lying off Bear Island two bears' crews felt the New Bedford whaler Mynkar for the shore, looking for bears, walruses or whatever might turn up and furnish them pipes with something out of the common. Since there had been no whales sighted for some time and life on shipboard was getting monotonous. One of the boats was commanded by the mate immediately after landing the crew of this boat soon in sight of a little bear on a slight, snowlad eminence. They paid no attention to the approach of the men. Cupid seemed to be busy and was powerfull old bear and her cub.

With foolhardy and cruel recklessness the mate advanced and placed his lance into the body of the cub. With a roar of rage the old bear rushed at the nearest of the men, who happened to be a relative of the captain, named Rouse. The latter fled precipitately, with knees at his heels and his shipmates fallen over a chaff or seven and trying to divert the bear's attention. As they had no firearms or other weapons at command, their endeavors in this direction were in vain. The mate was left one. Unexpectedly the bear would stop a moment and lay a wicked paw with each paw, and these brief interruptions of bruin's pace enabled the young man to maintain a lead.

Their course led them in the vicinity of a precipitous cliff. In twilight, darting toward it and could see the water below the mate caught sight of the captain's boat with an oar in each of the men's hands, pushed away. In its despair he called upon the men in the boat to shoot, but they seemed paralyzed and did nothing.

The next moment the two were at the edge of the precipice. The youth noticed for a moment the bear, and then made the leap, followed without hesitation. Pressing hard on a projection about 20 feet down, skipping a little ledge and then the young lad leapt directly over him and struck the water. The bear was speedily dispatched by the men in the boat, and young Rouse was rescued from his position, feeling none the worse for his adventure.

Lively Encounter With a Grizzly.

"The amount of lead a grizzly will take from a Sharps rifle is sufficient to make it simply wonderful. I have seen an old fellow fairly filled with lead and still be in fighting trim," said Jim Lang, an old sailor of New Mexico, to a Chicago Record correspondent. "A few years ago," he continued, "I had a bunch of cattle on a ranch in Gila country. Having our first lean months there we heard from various parties who had cattle near us that bears were very plentiful and that one old grizzly had run three or four cattle, all of them having failed to kill her, although they had shot her several times.

"One day I started out alone in quest of this grizzly. I was riding slowly along when I saw down a little gulch near bears feeding in the brush. They were so busy throwing up mound among the oaks gathering the nuts that they had not seen me. My horse was an old hunter, steady as a rock, and I knew there was no danger of his leaving me. Two large old fellows were feeding close together. Slipping gently from my horse, I drew an arrow of fire, aiming for the latter's heart, singing lusty. All this was of course in less time than I can tell it.

"When the bear received my shot, which was unfortunately too low, stiffening him in the shoulder, he evidently thought for a moment that the other bear had struck him, for he hauled off and gave it a most terrific blow, knocking it some 30 or 35 feet. A stroke from a bear's paw is usually a death stroke tell you, to use a fake slang, a grizzly can crush a hunter's skull at a single stroke. I knew that the bear was dead, as his feet in an instant, and I felt him have it again as he rose, breaking his neck.

"The other bear, the one I had shot, started for me, and I opened on her. My rifle is a 45, with chilled ball. With repeated shots I had emptied the rifle, and of powder, but I felt he knew it. Some times to the thinnest and more to the remain with the stepping, I was the one shot, 30 feet of me when I heard a noise to my left, thinking out of the corner of my eye. I have tried not to look at her because I feared for me from that side. There was no time for thought. What was to be done must be done instantly.

"At dismounting I had dropped old Charlie's rein. In an instant I gathered it up and slipped into the saddle. The bear had made about 20 feet at the first bounds. I tried to spur off together, and as the horse dashed out the bear gave a jump three inches into him at short range, but did not stop him short. The old bear was following up, grunting like an enraged boar. I took another shot at her putting a bullet right through her heart. Ha ha she still came on, with the foam flying from of her mouth and the blood spurting in a stream from her left wound at every step.

"I shoved in some fresh cartridges, but horse leaping some distance ahead of her on little cantor. I could see the fierce expression of her great bloody face as she followed me. It was full of a dumbfounded, was sickening to see, and for small knowing eyes, now almost red, had a glint in them that meant death.

"The followed me full 300 yards, showing visibly weaker at every stumble. I had in the meantime taken a coupled shotgun, her over the horse's neck. At the last she stopped and lay down, too sick to go further, but ready to fight still if the way she looked, crouched in a very defiantly.

"Seeing it was all up with her, I began to look round for the second one. I had shot. He had rescued himself off up the slope, leaving a broad trail behind him. I saw one track has, and he shot behind the fleeing sectlet his one. The dog by orders he dropped, quite dead. When I examined the old bear, I found mountain a dozen old bullet wounds on her. It was doubtless the one that had been the terror of the country."

A Night in a Tree.

George Rouse, an old trapper of the upper Yellowstone valley, relates the following scene of the wilderness rolls that never lost. "I went out with one companion one day to kill I saw a bear in a gulch. Didn't have any bullets, so I made a small shot out of lead away on my bits of grub when all because I heard bears—that's the cubs—in a neighbor and a scrubby, not be cute, frightened toward me of sagebrush was up, and when I tried to stop him he he ended pace like a stick, and scaled a pine tree. I had left a bag of beans to fire out what in the little matter the rocket meant.

"About the hour I thought, I half gang of big Brownies turn out of the brush and started. Bears usually are coward me, and I knew I had to do something, for they would climb in a only big bears, so all a scalper was publish 'em along. If I tried to my gun, I knew I should be beach me, so I pulled the shotgun weapon and dug out for life. As luck would have it, I had a scrubby tree close by, so I made lightning tracks to reach it, and when I got there I jumped not, leaving half a dozen bears in dim and swung myself up in a hurry, but the next minute them Bears—five in all—were in the tree with my scalper and seemed to be in a very bad temper.

"They followed they'd gak me, some, and they looked up wicked like, as if they felt only scalp. Any one of the varmints was big enough to make a man feel uneasy, and in a second or two and his sixth mad cause that wasn't more. I had in the forks of the tree, but I felt pretty well satisfied that I climbed myself to wait the coming up. Then bears kind and small bit by bit scarcely put my weight on a limb, and I shoved it till they rattled me so that I felt almost the'd let go drop down among em. But I continued to hang that and and gentlemanly a dog as you ever saw and I didn't hold him responsible. Say, now, without any ado! Indulgence, don't you bend to a bear?"

Steve placed his hand on a post to steady himself. He looked at the mountain main with all the contempt he could draw from his extra eyes, and then, still under an impression that the happy heaven of his troubles existed, that the happy heaven of his troubles existed, that the happy heaven of his troubles existed,

CHRIST THE CONQUEROR.

A Sacramental Sermon by Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage.

[What Christ Has Done for Man Man is Constantly Doing for Those Depending Upon Him in the Home Circle.

The following sacramental discourse on the subject: "Christ the Conqueror" was delivered by Rev. T. DeWitt Talmage in the Brooklyn tabernacle, the text before:

Who is this that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah? this that is glorious in his apparel, traveling in the greatness of his strength?—Isaiah lxiii. 1.

Edom and Bozrah, having been the scene of fierce battle, when those words are used here or in any other part of the Bible, they are used to speech setting forth scenes of severe conflict. As now we often use the word Waterloo to describe a decisive contest of any kind, so the words Bozrah and Edom in this text are figure of speech descriptive of a scene of great slaughter. Winterer else the prophet may have meant to describe, he most certainly meant to depict the Lord Jesus Christ, saying: "Who is that cometh from Edom, with dyed garments from Bozrah, traveling in the greatness of his strength?

When a general is about to go out to the wars, the flag and a sword are publicly presented to him, and the maidens bring flowers, and the young men load the cannon, and the train starts amid a huzza that drowns the thunder of the wheels and the shriek of the whistle. But all this will give no idea of the excitement that there must have been in Heaven when Christ started out on the campaign of the ages of the gospel. If they could have foreseen the siege that would be laid to Him, and the maltreatment He would suffer, and the burdens He would have to carry, and the battles He would have to fight, I think there would have been a million volunteers in Heaven who would have insisted on coming along with Him; but no, they only accompanied Him in the gate, their last shout heard close down to the earth, the space between the two worlds bridged with a great hosanna. You know there is a wide difference between a soldier coming to the wars and coming back again. When he goes off, it is with epaulets untangled, with banner unspecked, with horses sleek and shining from the groom. All that there is of joy and triumph is yet to come yet. So it was with Christ. He had not yet fought a battle. He was starting out, and though this world did not give Him a warm-hearted greeting, there was a great deal of joy who filled Him in her arms and a babe finds no difference between a stable and a palace, between courtiers and camel-drivers. As Jesus stepped on the stage of this world, it was amidst angelic shouts in the galleries and amidst the kindest maternal administrations. But soon hostile forces began to gather. They deployed from the Sanhedrim. They were detailed from the standing army. They came out from the Cesarean castles. The eagle-lords in the street joined the gentlemen of the mansion. Spirits rode up from hell, and hell's imps and there came a force together that threatened to put to rout this newly-arrived one from Heaven. Jesus now sending the battle gathering lifted His own standard; but who gathered about it? How feeble the recruits! A few shepherds, a blind beggar, a woman with an alabaster box, another woman with two mites, and a group of Galileans, sunspiced and positionless people came to His standard. What chance was there for Him? Nazareth against Him. Bethlehem against Him. Capernaum against Him. Jerusalem against Him. Galilee against Him. The courts against Him. The army against Him. The throne against Him. The world against Him. All hell against Him. No wonder they asked Him to surrender. But He could not surrender. He could not apologize. He could not take any back steps. He had come to strike for the deliverance of an enslaved race, and He must do the work. Then they sent out their platoons to watch Him. They saw in what house He went, and when He came out. They watched what He ate, and who with; what He drank, and how much. They did not dare to make a direct assault, for they were not but that behind Him there might be re-enforcement that was not seen. But at last the battle came. It was to be more fierce than Bozrah, more bloody than Lettysburg, more terrible more than Austerlitz, more combatants employed than at Chalons, a ghastlier conflict than all the battles of the earth together, though Edward Darwin in his estimate of slaughter thousand millions of the slain by accounts. The day was Friday. The hour was between 12 and 3 o'clock. The field was a slight hillock northwest of Jerusalem. The forces engaged were heaven and hell, joined as allies, on one side, and Heaven represented by a solitary inhabitant, on the other.

The hour came. Oh, what a time it was! I think that that day the universe looked on. The spirits that could be spared from the heavenly temple, and could get conveyance of wing or chariot, came down from above, and spirits gushed out from hell, from beneath came up, and they listened, and they looked, and they watched. Oh, what an uneven battle! Two worlds armed on one side; an unarmed man, alone, the other. The report of the Roman army at that time stationed at Jerusalem began the attack. They know how to fight, for they boldered to the most thoroughly drilled army of all the world. With spears glittering in the sun they charge up the hill. The horses prance and rear amidst the excitement of the populace—the heels of the riders plunged in the flanks, urging them on. The weapons begin to fell on Christ. See how faint He looks. There the blood starts, and there, and there, there. It He is to have any chance, it must be by and coming back again. When he goes off, it is with epaulets untangled, with banner unspecked, with horses sleek and shining from the groom. All that there is of joy and triumph is yet to come yet. So it was with Christ. OUR COLLEGE GIRLS

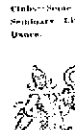
HOW THEY ENJOY THEMSELVES AND STARTLE OTHERS.

PARADING THE STREETS IN GAY ATTIRE.

Listening to the Screechers of the Glee Clubs—Some Recent Sensations from Seminary Life—The Hazelhurst Skirt Dance.



SOME TWO YEARS ago it if a dozen girls, pupils in a fashionable semi-nary, startled the society by appearing in the streets attired in Mother Hubbard dresses, sandals, and sophomoric dollies of the American pattern meeting the vestibule, pro-tectly placed them underarmes for decorous conduct. When the young ones appeared in court to answer the charge, a great was their horror to find themselves filled with the elite of the city, who had been drawn thither by the news of their sensational escapade. When it was shown to the satisfaction of the court that the young women were ought, the entertainment it bestowed them a few dollars each for their carelessness. They paid their respective fines and returned to their school, where they were well received by their schoolmates, if not by the disgusted their principals. The sensation caused by their conduct soon passed away; for it was thought that the height of culpability had been reached by the seminary girls, and that nothing more was in store for the future.

The affair at Brattleboro, Mass., the other night knocks out all calculations. The seminary there is one of the most exclusive in the country. A girl must be "blue ribbon" or she won't be admitted. But by the recent affair three of the girls so alienated the authorities that they have had to pack their trunks and leave the place. Fourteen others are under suspension and will not be seen in the recitation rooms for the remainder of the year.

It seems that the Tufts College Glee club visited Haverhill, the large shoe city just across the Merrimac river from Bradford, and sang in the city hall. After the entertainment the boys were the guests of some of the younger members of the fashionable Pentuckel club of Haverhill, and it is said that the enjoyment reached high pitch. Every time a glee club has come to Haverhill it has serenaded the Bradford girls, and on several occasions the youthful warblers have narrowly escaped being taken up by bull dogs or watchmen. The young men of the Pentuckel club suggested the trip across the suspension bridge, and it met the prompt approval of the glee club boys. They went across the river when after midnight and the girls in the academy were questioned by pangs from the ten collegians, ranged in a line on the snow-covered campus of the academy. It was evident that some of the girls had expected the young men, for in less than five minutes seventeen of them had gathered in the room of a young woman from Boston, in the front of the building, on the ground floor, and crowded the windows to see the singers and appoint the songs.

It is not known just what the effect of ten male voices may have on seventeen young women, but it is certain that these young women not only did not keep curtains between themselves and the gallants, but they apparently forgot that they were in evidence of snowy white.

The young men noted this fact with some surprise, but kept on singing, and pretty soon it was evident that the young women were pleased with the college songs and ballads, for the lively time set the girls to giving exhibitions of skirt dancing, all for the special entertainment of the ten young men lined up on the campus and a dozen or so of the Haverhill youths hidden a little way off. This dancing and kicking continued for perhaps fifteen or twenty minutes, when the girls discovered that a other was one of their number. There was a scream of horror and a hasty stampede for their rooms. But as they opened the door to fly they were met by Miss Hallam, the principal of the academy, who declared them only long enough to take their names.

There was no more sleep in that building that night, and the next day there was quiet. On Friday the storm broke. Three of the young women said to be from Boston, were told that their presence was no longer desirable, and fourteen others were told to go home, and stay at home for a long time. Miss Allan, the principal, of course refuses to give the names of the young women expelled, or to discuss the matter.

Bradford Academy is one of the most fashionable young women's boarding schools in the east. Bradford is a sleepy little village and the exclusive character of the school is well known. The faculty always has been greatly troubled by the serenades of the young men from Haverhill, and never does a college glee club go to that city that it does not add to the nervousness of the faculty. Last year the Harvard club came to Haverhill and almost made the poor dizzy. Into the in closure to the academy. At about the midnight interval Miss Hallam, principal, and before the serenade had been concluded some one heard a loud shout. Hence, bedlam. The Harvard club hurriedly left and Bradford girls whine.

RAILWAYS AND SHOPS.

The Wheel Works Will Start Some of Its Machinery.

The Anthony Wayne Works Will Increase Its Force and Working Hours—Local and Personal.

Mrs. Markey, wife of the Nickel Plate fireman, who has been seriously ill for some time, is convalescent.

Next Thursday the Veteran Association of Pennsylvania lines will hold their annual reunion in Pittsburg.

Nickel Plate Engineer Brecht is quite lame, the result of a fall from his engine in the Bellevue round house.

Thomas Dougherty, of Huntington, who was the guest of Fort Wayne friends two weeks, returned home last evening.

C. L. Kimball, of Cleveland, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, was in the city this morning.

Foreman Snyder, of the fixture department of the electric light works, has returned from Indianapolis where he spent a week with friends.

L. Meisler, who for some time conducted a tailor shop on South Lafayette street, has shut up shop and will go to Colorado. He left yesterday.

It is currently reported that A. A. Mofeed is to become president of the Lehigh Valley road. President Wilbur, so rumor says, is anxious to retire.

Manager D. B. Kehler, of the Fort Wayne Furniture company, has returned home. He spent a week in the south selling folding beds and mantels.

Richard Bracken left last evening for his home in New York after a pleasant visit in this city. He formerly worked in the Fort Wayne electric light works.

The Pittsburg, the Wabash, and nearly all of the departments of the Base works are closed today. The electric light works is running as usual, however.

The Indiana railway tax case will come up in the supreme court at Washington next Monday. A great sum of money is at stake and the result of the trial is anxiously awaited.

The Kentucky Union railroad, 100 miles in length, will be sold at public auction at Lexington next Monday to satisfy a claim of $1,000,000, bonded for.

The Pennsylvania reports an increase in emigrant business. The Panhandle is getting the bulk of the business west of Pittsburg. Formerly it nearly all went over the Fort Wayne line.

The Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg road has reduced the wages of its employes 10 per cent. Only those employes, about 500 in number, who receive over $10 per month are affected.

The Anthony Wayne Manufacturing company will commence running its shops ten hours per day next week. The force of workmen will also be increased. Business with the firm is very good.

The Electric Light company has finished inventory and today resumed the work of filling orders for machinery. A car load of converters started on its journey to Baltimore this morning.

Passenger and freight business on the Pittsburg is improving rapidly. It is unfortunate that the company has decided to cripple its passenger service by taking off trains on the eve of a business revival.

Attached to the Nickel Plate fast train last evening was the private car of George W. Pullman, the palace car millionaire, with that gentleman aboard. Usually Mr. Pullman travels over the Pittsburg when going east.

A year ago last January, William Wright, of Indianapolis, was permanently crippled in the wreck on the Lake Erie and Western road, at the bridge crossing the Wabash river, near Peru. Yesterday Wright filed a suit for $50,000 damages against the company.

Conductor Ed Diedrick, of the Plymouth accommodation, brought in an immense pike this morning and exhibited it for a while at the south depot. The fish was forty seven inches long and weighed nineteen and a half pounds. Mr. Diedrick caught it at Plymouth last evening.

General Manager Joseph Woods, General Supt. Charles Watt and E. B. Taylor, general superintendent of transportation, of the Pennsylvania lines, passed through the city at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on a special train, eastbound. The gentlemen have been making a tour of the Vandalia.

Last Tuesday a notice was posted in the Big Four shops at Wabash announcing that beginning with that day the men would work only eight hours the first four days of each week, six hours the fifth day and four hours on Saturday. This, all told, makes forty-two hours each week, or seven hours daily.

The Standard Wheel company has decided to start up a part of its works in this city in about a week. The spoke machinery will be set in operation first, giving employment to about twenty five men, and if business will justify such a move the other parts of great the works will be started up. When in full operation the Standard Wheel works give employment to 400 men. It is hoped that business will soon revive and that the works will resume operations with old time vigor.

It was reported on the streets this morning that the Nickel Plate road would soon put on a number of accommodation trains, similar to those on the Pittsburg which will be discontinued on Sunday. A SENTINEL reporter called at Superintendent Gorham's office this morning and was informed that the company would not put on any more passenger trains at present. The passenger traffic of the road is very good, but the present train service is sufficient for all demands.

The suit, involving $1,000, to foreclose a mortgage on the Pittsburg, Akron and Western railroad will be withdrawn. This is the outcome of an agreement between the receiver, W. A. Lynch, and the bondholders, by which receiver's certificates will be issued to pay off floating indebtedness due from construction work and for the improvement of the line. The certificates run two years, and during that time the receiver will operate the road.

After a service extending over a number of years, George Ward has resigned as messenger for the Adams Express company on the Fort Wayne branch of the Lake Erie and Western road. Next week he will move his family to Indianapolis and when Mr. Spencer assumes charge of the pension agency Mr. Ward will enter the office and assume a responsible clerical position. He is an expert accountant, honest and industrious, and will perform the duties of the office faithfully and accurately.

A NERVOUS WOMAN.

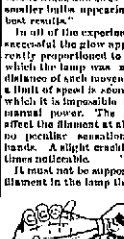
What She Thought About Nerves.

The nerves are the most important part of the system. If they are weak, the person is run down, tired, languid and does not feel like doing anything. She can sleep but little, her mind wanders, her appetite is gone and what she can eat does her no good.

This is just the condition Mrs. Milo Griffith, a well known lady of Moretown, Vt., found herself in and the reader will see by the following letter that she knew what to do to get well.

"About seven years ago," she says, "I was taken with very severe nervousness and could not work. I could but just drag around. I also had the asthma badly. I was so nervous that at times I could not lay in the house but felt as though I must go out in the street and run.

"I had no appetite and what I did eat laid heavily on my stomach and sometimes distressed me severely. I had seen Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy advertised and heard it most highly praised and determined at once to take this medicine which was so favorably spoken of by everybody. I had only taken it a short time when I began to feel the good results from it, and I am now entirely cured of all my complaints.



MRS. MILO GRIFFITH.

"I was so confined to the house that I could not go out evenings at all to any amusements, but now can go when I please. When I commenced the medicine I weighed ninety-six pounds and now have got back to 132 pounds. I coughed and wheezed so that I would almost fall down.

"Nobody could suffer any more than I did, but now my asthma and nervousness are entirely cured and the medicine that did it was Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I eat and sleep well and do my housework as comfortably as ever. I heartily recommend the Nervura to all. It is the most wonderful medicine I have ever found."

There are thousands of women suffering just as Mrs. Griffith was. They are so nervous they cannot control themselves, they have no power to throw off that terrible down-hearted, discouraged feeling and may feel as though they would go insane. Are you afflicted in this way? If so, you will surely be cured by using Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. It is the most wonderful medicine in the world to cure disease, and it is just what you want.

The spring is always the best time to take this medicine. It is the discovery of Dr. Greene, the most successful specialist in curing nervous and chronic diseases. He can be consulted free of charge, personally or by letter, at his office, 35 West 14th street, New York City.

FOR MAYOR.

Elbert Stringer Announces Himself as a Candidate.

Editor SENTINEL:

"The greatest mayor Chicago ever had" was slain by an assassin.

That party is about to be executed about the date my friends will "down" me for nomination for mayor of Fort Wayne.

A once very "obscure" man employed the words so now-a-days hear so much about, viz: "Government of the people, by the people, for the people," in an address at Gettysburg at the dedication of the National cemetery that made him "prominent" not only, by its loyal breathings and sentiment, the conspicuous man of the world, and the worshiped now of his and other nations. The words so employed by him on that occasion, were the words used; first, by the father of the constitution, the father of democracy, hence I call him a democrat, and I am that kind of a democrat, and will be a candidate for mayor on that ticket, and subject to that party's nomination and will support whoever the democratic party nominates by my own vote (the only one I control) on the day of the election.

What is democracy?

First—Government by the people; a form of government in which the supreme power is in the hands of the people, and directly exercised by them; hence more usually, a form of government in which the power resides ultimately in the whole people, who conduct it by a system of representation and delegation of powers; a constitutional and representative government; a republic.

Second—The system of principles held by the chiefest of the two parties into which the people have long been divided and which party is now in municipal control, as will be in township, county, district, state and general government. Under our democratic direction, I find, we have, under present law, many associations, local, social and student, and agents, bakers, brewers, bankers and butchers, contractors, colleges, churches and clubs, dyers, dentists, druggists and drygoods men, electricians, excavators, engravers and express companies, furnaces, foundries, factories and florists, grocers, grabbers and gas companies, hotels, hucksters, hide dealers and hardware companies, insurance agents and ice companies, jewelers and junk dealers, knitting mills, (making various lines,) laundries, loan agents and lumber dealers, machinists, merchants, milliners and moulders, nurses, ice, newsdealers and newspapers, opticians, oil companies and oilcloaters, painters, photographers, perfumers, physicians, plasterers, plumbers, printers and pharmacists, restaurants, roofers, real estate and rubber stamp dealers, saloons, schools, stenographers and stoves, typewriters, truckmen, tile makers and tinners, upholsterers, umbrellomakers and undertakers, veterinary surgeons, veneerers and vinegar-makers, washboard and wash machine makers, and also yewmakers, and they are in flourishing condition, and to stay.

If we pursue a course in the coming election of nominating a mayor that the people will think will be a government of the mayor, by the mayor, for the mayor, we will, in the language of Lincoln, "perish from the earth," for the "people" see in their vision that in the far, far east the sun is setin'—Setin' as it once set before!

Away down upon the Galusha River,
They've tossed the baby on the shore
We once left a baby on the shore
Where we never left a baby down before.
Away down upon the Maumee River
We left a baby on the shore.

The mayor we nominate on the 7th of April must be a strong, clean man, or we imperil the election on the first Tuesday in May.

We must not nominate, in my opinion, because he has no "pull," or nominate a man who, we think, has every "pull," for on the homestretch the "people" have a "pull."

We must not nominate a man who has no desire to be our mayor, but is running to please his friends, nor a man who is not eligible by every standard, of the people, viz: honest, capable.

The man who will be elected our mayor, will take an oath, and, whoever he may be, if he does not observe his oath, will be a perjurer.

I want that office, and I want it awful bad; but what we as a party want, is a man who the people will endorse.

Yours truly,
ELBERT STRINGER.

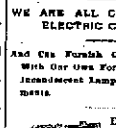
THE HUMAN DYNAMO

WE ARE ALL CHARGED WITH ELECTRIC CURRENTS.

And Can Furnish Our Own Lighting With Our Own Force by Utilizing the Incandescent Lamp—Scientific Experiments.



THAT EVERY ONE has enough natural electricity in his or her body to light up an incandescent lamp will strike most people as strange, yet it is true. Without dynamo, battery cell or like appliance of any kind other than certain manipulations of a stout pair of hands, the experiment can be performed and an interesting result obtained.

Even the average electrician, in whose scientific mind two and two always make four, may be skeptical, but his doubts will cease when he learns it is by frictional electricity that the lighting effect is to be obtained.

Most people have heard of that ancient experiment set down in the natural philosophies of school days by which, if the family cat is willing, you may produce a miniature pyrotechnic display merely by rubbing the cat's fur the wrong way. Performed in a dark room, that experiment is highly interesting, but it has the distinct drawback that the puss seldom or never cuts her nails.

To perform the lamp experiment take an ordinary incandescent lamp globe—one that has been used—and scrape it as its lower or socket end with the thumb and fingers. The thumb and fingers of the other hand are then encircled around the wide part of the glass bulb, as in the illustration. The lamp is then moved rapidly back and forth through the hand that is around the bulb. If this is done and the experiment performed in a dark room the lamp will glow for some moments after the rubbing has ceased.

The illumination is most beautiful, being of a delicate cream color, with a slight bluish tinge, and appearing very much like a miniature aurora.

Although this is plainly a phase of frictional electricity, the exact reason for the phenomenon is not known; nor is it always successful under the same conditions. A recent experimenter, commenting on this strange conduct of the incandescent bulb, says:

"If ever a phenomenon was full of caprice, certainly this one is. For a time in following out the same conditions that have been acted upon previously no results whatever were produced. The experiment again has been a failure when tried as different conditions, three or four years, but with the same lamp in use and taking precautions to carefully insulate the experimenter from possible contact with the earth.

"Certain persons seem unable to call forth sparks after repeated attempts. The results are also modified by different kinds and sizes of lamps, the smaller bulbs appearing to give the best results."

In all of the experiments which were successful the glow appeared to be directly proportioned to the speed with which the lamp was moved and the distance of each movement. Of course a limit of speed is soon reached, above which it is impossible to proceed by manual power. The glow does not affect the filament at all, and therefore no peculiar sensation is felt in the hands. A slight crackling sound is at times noticeable.

It must not be supposed that it is the filament in the lamp that glows. That would be a mechanical impossibility. The part that lights up is the glass itself.

THE HUMAN DYNAMO.

This Makes Us Blush.

A Nice paper recently contained the following, which has occasioned considerable amusement among the Americans there. It is headed "Very American." "A very rich Yankee has recently offered the Comtesse of Jaime 2,000,000 francs for her house, its furniture, objects of art, and whatever else it may contain worthy of purchase. The residence is to be torn down most carefully and scientifically and transported stone by stone to the other side of the ocean, where it is to be rebuilt with all the slightest departure being made from the original building or in the arrangement of its furniture."—Chicago Herald.

Plating Aluminium.

A process of plating aluminium has been devised by Prof. Nessen, a German chemist, which shows very good results. The aluminium is first dipped in a solution of caustic potash or soda, then in metallic zinc, until bubbles of gas begin to appear, then into corrosive sublimate, then a second time into the caustic or acid, and finally into a solution of a salt of the desired metal. A film of metal is rapidly formed, and adheres so firmly that, in the case of gold, silver or copper, the plate may be rolled out or polished.

Paper Yarn.

Paper yarn is now being substituted for other cheap stock in carpets, and is said to be superior to shoddy and nungee, both in cost and strength. Of course the paper is used only in the warp and on the under side of the texture and not on the upper surface. It is said that 55 per cent of a carpet may be made of paper without a customer suspecting it.

Popularity of Certain Christian Names.

According to statistics, Mary is the most popular of Christian names, followed in order by William, John, Elizabeth, Thomas, George, Sarah, Jane, Charles, Henry, Alice, Joseph, Ann, Jane, Ellen, Emily, Frederick, Annie, Margaret, Emma, Eliza, Robert, Arthur, Alfred, Edward.

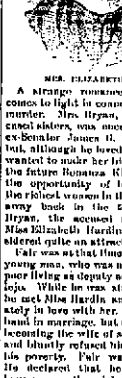
PETALUMA'S MURDER

THE CRIME FOR WHICH TWO SISTERS WILL ANSWER.

EX-SENATOR FAIR'S OLD TIME SWEETHEART.

She Jilted Him Because He Was in Humble Circumstances—She Afterward Married a Poor Man and May Now Be a Murderess.

THE MURDER of Mrs. Nancy Meagher on her ranch near Petaluma, Cal., has been followed by the arrest of Mrs. Elizabeth Bryan and Mrs. Mary Jane Fowler, sisters of the murdered woman, and John Bryan, the 16-year-old son of the former. The murder was a very atrocious one, greed of money being the actuating motive. The victim was blind, and lived with her husband in their fine residence near the place named. An attempt was also made to kill the husband, but he revived after being shot down, the bullet having failed to reach a vital part. Had the attempt to kill him been successful, it is likely that the double crime would always have remained a mystery.

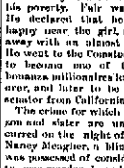


MRS. ELIZABETH BRYAN.

A strange romance of years ago comes to light in connection with the murder. Mrs. Bryan, one of the accused sisters, was once the object of ex-Senator James H. Fair's affection, but, although he loved her dearly and wanted to make her his wife, she jilted the future Bonanza King and missed the opportunity of becoming one of the richest women in the world. It was away back in the 50s when Mrs. Bryan, then a young woman, was Miss Elizabeth Hardin, and was considered quite an attractive girl.

Fair was at that time an impecunious young man, who was making a rather poor living as deputy assessor for Valejo. While he was struggling along he met Miss Hardin and fell desperately in love with her. He sought her hand in marriage, but she objected to becoming the wife of so poor a man, and jilted poor Fair on account of his poverty. Fair was disconsolate. He declared that he could not be happy near the girl, so she sent him away with an almost broken heart. He went to the Comstock range, there to become one of the four great bonanza millionaires known the world over, and later to be United States senator from California.

The crime for which Mrs. Bryan, her son and sister are under arrest occurred on the night of Jan. 22. Mrs. Nancy Meagher, a blind woman, who was possessed of considerable property, was murdered on her ranch, near Petaluma. At the same time her husband received injuries which were thought to be mortal. The assassins fired through a window as the Meaghers were sitting at table. The crime created the greatest excitement throughout Sonoma county. Suspicion pointed to the sisters of the dead woman, who were said to be careless of their blind sister's wealth, and who objected strongly to her marriage to Meagher. The coroner's jury returned a verdict charging murder, and boldly asserting that they believed the sisters of the murdered woman could tell who committed the crime. Both women loudly assert their innocence, but the boy, who is believed to have fired the fatal charge at the instigation of his mother and aunt, has made compromising statements when closely questioned.



MRS. MARY JANE FOWLER.

When Meagher regained consciousness after the discovery of the crime he declared that immediately after the tragedy, as he was wounded in his house, he heard the two sisters of his wife and young Bryan talking in an adjoining room, and expressing their pleasure that he was dead. The accused women and boy deny that they were over in the vicinity of the Meagher ranch.

Tolerance in Isle of Wight.

The house of lords, as the legislature of the Isle of Man is called, has just passed a measure, duly sanctioned by the governor, removing the civil disabilities to which Roman Catholics have until now been subjected in the island on account of their religion. It was until a week or two ago the only spot on the British empire where a Catholic was debarred by reason of his religion from exercising his full right of citizenship and from holding any office, from that of membership in the legislature to that of attorney or constable.

In Bohemia.

Not a stone's throw above Delmonico's, in Broadway, New York, there is a segregated resort of actors without outward sign. The place looks like a demure family grocery, where women can buy tea and pickles and sample raisins at their leisure. But its back rooms is a boast of voluptuous oil paintings, free lunch, cut glass and little side tables. Here you will be pretty sure to run against all the actors in town if you wait long enough, and fairly the theatrical news gatherers have made it their headquarters. It is quiet, crowded, unsuspected and Bohemian.

PERSONALITIES.

Lady Constance Lytton, daughter of the late Earl Lytton (author of "Lucile"), is accounted an able journalist.

The ulian of Turkey has 800 carriages. You see, his better half likes to go out all together once in awhile.

An uncut copy of the first edition of Gray's "Elegy," published in 1757 at sixpence, was sold lately in London for $200.

Miss Deborah Knox, who preaches in Connecticut and Rhode Island, is said to be a descendant of John Knox, the Scotch reformer.

Jules Claretie paid a visit to Mlle. Rosa Bonheur recently, and he says that in spite of her seventy odd years she is bright and alert and quite youthful in manner.

Following the example of George Eliot, George Sand and George Fleming, Mrs. Clairmonte, who is coming into prominence as a novelist, calls herself "George Egerton."

It is announced that Lily Langtry is about to send out a novel with her name on the title page. Her memoirs, if written without mental or other reservation, would be interesting.

The late Henry Pettitt, the dramatist, sold his first play for a $5 note. During that years of his life he is said to have enjoyed an income equal to that of the archbishop of Canterbury.

Congressman Thomas Settle of North Carolina is greatly annoyed by a young man the N. C. is only a little over 20) who has been assuming his name and running up bills on it in New York.

Dr. Arlindo de Freitas, one of the most famous physicians of Portugal and a member of one of its most illustrious families, has been sentenced to eight years' solitary confinement for poisoning his neighbors and nieces.

Swami Vive Ananda, a Brahmin priest, is lecturing in the West on the manners and customs of India. His lectures are illustrated by the outward aspects of Indian life than on the philosophy of the faith he represents.

The idiotic D in the name of John Rockefeller has not been there originally, having been adopted in later life by the millionaire because he thought he needed it to round out his name and make it look better on a check.

It is said that the real reason why Queen Victoria took up the study of Hindustani four years ago was in order that she might converse in their own tongue with the Indian princesses who came from time to time to pay their respects to her.

William A. Wheeler, ex-vice president of the United States, was once asked by a young man, a relative of his, to help him to procure a clerkship in one of the departments in Washington. He replied substantially as follows: "If you apply for such a position and will let me know when you do so, I will do all I can—to prevent your getting it."

JESTS AND JIBES.

"What makes Mrs. Blower so huffy and cross?" "She has persuaded the minister to accept an invitation to dinner."

"How did you learn that old Kicker would make a good addition to our football team?" Dodger—I asked him for his daughter's hand."

Slim—Cracks—Wake up, wake up, sir! There are burglars in the billiard room. Proprietor, sleepily—Charge 'em sixty cents an hour.

"Was she what you would call a fine singer?" "I don't know." "Didn't you hear her?" "Yes, but I didn't think to ask 'em what the price of the ticket was."

"Have you had your new house insured, Mrs. Dwight?" "Yes." "Your husband is afraid of fire, then?" "Mercy, yes; he will leave the house any time before he will make one."

"Kind sir, pray give me a shilling for my hungry children?" "Awfully sorry, but I'm not buying hungry children just now; fact is, I've got nine of my own at home already."

Reddish—I don't see the sense in the saying that reading maketh a full man. Do you? Kidds—Er—yes, if he reads the right sort of stuff. Kadds—What, for instance? Kidds—Bills of fare.

A French engineer has built an electric locomotive which carries a 500-horse power stationary steam engine. This runs a dynamo, which generates the current applied to the electric motors mounted on driving axles.

Cocoa and chocolate are prepared from the nuts by freeing them from the pulp and making them undergo a process similar to malting. They are afterward roasted in a perforated cylinder and are then freed from their husks and made into cocoa or chocolate.

Dr. Galippe reports to the French academy of sciences that after eight years' investigation he finds that all worms, such as gravel, found in the human body, are produced by microbes. Microbes are the authors of that chemical decomposition which results in calcareous deposits.

One of the difficulties which lines stood in the way of the distribution of paper pulp for wood in the manufacture of pencils has been the toughness of the paper covering, and its consequent resistance to the action of a knife, but by a new process which has lately been introduced, the molecular cohesion of the paper is modified in such a manner that it can be cut as easily as cedar wood.

Fogg—It is not often that you find two men with exactly the same views on the tariff question, but Brown and Blenkinsop are there agree to a dot. Figg—But have they mastered the subject? Fogg—Not at all. Neither of them has the slightest knowledge of the question and both of them frankly admit it.

Historic old Castle Garden has been converted into a magnificently appointed aquarium. The work on the building has been completed, and but little remains to be done in the interior.

A building permit has been granted in New York for a business edifice four feet nine inches by fifteen feet eight inches. It is to be used as an Italian fruit store and the plans were drawn up by a regular architect.

Ready sensitized postal cards are now being placed upon the German market, so that the photographic tourist can very easily dispatch prints of the pictures he is making in his travels to his friends and relatives at home.

Freedom Hedwig—Here, Emmy, dear, you accept this little birthday present from your Fritz. Emmy, looking up, indignantly—A hundred visiting cards! What extravagance! How much longer do you expect me to keep my own name?

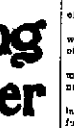
"Well, Uncle Josiah, what do you think of our charity ball?" Uncle Josiah—Well, you may mean all right, but it looks hard-hearted to me to ketch people here to dance when they haven't clothes enough to make 'em comfortable.

Mr. Dinwiddie—I see that Mrs. Gladstone has written an article on children, in which she says they need change. Mrs. Dinwiddie—Don't I know that? Don't they come to me two or three times a day and ask for a nickel or dime?

I have used Simmons Liver Regulator in my extensive practice for the last four years, and cannot find its equal for bilious colic, dyspepsia, sick or nervous headach and constipation. Yours truly, Jas. M. Short, M. D., Butlerville, Ark.

SCALL HEAD CURED

Bad Case. Two Doctors No Good. Trine Cuticura. First Set Helps. Four Sets Completely Cure.



THIS BABY PIED was born Nov. 20, 1891. From her birth she had Scall Head until she was four months old, then it appeared covered over with a mass of white crusts, and looked like a scab. It spread over her face in the form of an ulcer, and then began to spread over her neck and body. We tried two doctors, but they could not help us. We then tried the Cuticura Remedies, giving the Cuticura Soap a thorough bathing, and applying the Cuticura Ointment freely. The first set of Cuticura Remedies cured the child. We have used no more of them since, and she is now perfectly cured. The first set cost us but little more than one dollar, and we feel that we have saved hundreds of dollars by using the Cuticura Remedies. We tried two doctors and spent much money, but found no help until we used the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. SETH SMITH, Meriden, Conn.

SMOOTH SKIN FOR $5.00

I used the CUTICURA REMEDIES for about two months, and the entire expense was but $5.00, which I think very reasonable for a new smooth skin. It left my face in the best of condition, free from all pimples and blotches. I will use the Cuticura Soap, and recommend it to all.

Telephone 1218.

To make it more convenient for those desiring to send items of news to THE SENTINEL, we have placed an extra telephone in the editorial rooms. The number is 1218. Anything in the news line will be gladly received over this new wire.

The Weather.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—Forecast till 8 p. m. Sunday. For Indiana—Fair except showers tonight or Sunday in extreme northern portions; slightly warmer Sunday morning; probably colder in the afternoon, southeasterly winds.

NEWS NOTES.

P. A. Randall has returned from his southern trip.

The St. Joseph Benevolent society meets tomorrow.

Attorney E. V. Harris is in Toledo on legal business.

J. Williams and family have moved to their East Jefferson street property.

Two children of Mr. and Mrs. John McMillan, of Fifth street, are ill of lung fever.

The annual Association of Congregational Churches and Ministers will be held in this city in May.

Mrs M. R. Moon, of the Fort Wayne Business college, is at Danville, Ill., at the bedside of her sister, who is ill.

H. P. Howell, editor of the Royal Arcanum Guide, and Supreme Guide Goodwin, both of Boston, are in the city.

Judge L. M. Nixde is in New York city, attending to a case in the courts in which the Niellingers are interested.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Parker, of North Cass street—a daughter. Mr. Parker is in the county auditor's office.

Aaron Lichey has announced himself as a candidate for recorder, subject to the decision of the democratic nominating convention.

Richard J. Bracken, formerly of Fort Wayne, who has been the guest of friends here, has returned to his home in New York city.

E. T. Stringer spoke on the new city charter and city politics at Saengerbund hall, last evening. The attendance was quite small.

Emmett Martin announces in THE SENTINEL today that he is a candidate for councilman for the Tenth ward, subject to democratic primary.

Mr. Charles H. Worden announces in this issue that he is a candidate before the democratic county convention for judge of the Allen circuit court.

Supt. J. S. Irwin yesterday entertained Superintendent Jones, of the Indianapolis schools, and Superintendent Moffett, of the Decatur schools.

William Crabb, of Lafayette township, celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday yesterday. Mr. Crabb is one of the best known farmers of Allen county, having settled here in 1834.

Rev. Dr. Phillip Maxom, lately pastor of the First Baptist church of Boston, and well known as an eminent divine, has accepted a call from the South Congregational church, of Springfield, Mass.

The new crematory is about completed, but some changes will have to be made. One of the chief objections is the driveway which leads up into the cone.—It is entirely too steep and will have to be reconstructed.

The Monroeville Breeze says: "The many friends of Joseph Isiko, a former resident of this place and Madison township, now residing at Fort Wayne, will be pleased to learn that he has greatly improved in his eyesight. He has been nearly blind for the past two years."

The woman who is going about fraudulently soliciting aid in the name of the Fort Wayne relief union came nearly being caught last evening in the eastern part of the city. The woman was asked if she would remain a moment at one of the houses and the police was sent for but she made her escape.

A subscriber calls the attention of THE SENTINEL to the fact that Erie street is sadly in need of a sidewalk. He says there is no sidewalk on the north side of that street, between Harrison and Francis, and pedestrianism during the bad weather is one continued round of "wading through the mud." Our subscriber wants a sidewalk and desires his councilman to look after the matter.

A new west side club has been organized with twenty-four members and will be known as the Hard Times club. The members will give a hop at Schroeder's hall on March 15.

Miss Theresa Dickes has resigned her position as stenographer at the office of the Compound Oxygen association and will soon leave for Jackson, Mich., to take a position with one of the largest business firms in that city.

Mrs Maria C. French and daughter, Miss Mattie, of Fort Wayne, Mich., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Potter, of East Washington street. Mrs French will return home the early part of next week, but Miss Mattie will be the guest of friends in this city for some time.

Yesterday Miss Nellie Tierman observed her birthday anniversary and last evening the Misses Jophie Kunz, Millie, Lizzie and Clara Reese, Emma Reidenbach, Anna DeWald, Emma Becker, Carrie and Tillie Traub, Miss Emma Auesmir called to offer congratulations. The evening was pleasantly spent with music and in social conversation.

Mrs W. F. Greiner, who is at Indianapolis visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Martens, was taken quite ill on the streets of that city yesterday. A telegram to her husband, Mr. Greiner, secretary of the Indiana Furniture company, this morning says she is not dangerously ill, but will be detained at the home of her parents for some time.

Master Guy Ford, of 76 West Williams street, delightfully entertained a number of his little friends Thursday evening. The hours were spent in playing various games, and refreshments were served at 9 o'clock. Those who participated were as follows: Misses Blanche, Nellie and Gracie Larimore, Emma, Lotta and Gracie Middleton, Jean and Laura Bonny, Hattie Lanne, Bessie Coles, and Masters Charley Pearson, Earl Hendrix, Willie Slagle, Frank Iler, Guy, Ralph and Albert Ford.

Miss Laura Bryan pleasantly entertained a number of her friends at her home, 405 South Calhoun street, Thursday evening. The evening was spent in games and refreshments were served at 11 o'clock. Those who participated in the enjoyment were Mable Shelvey, Ida Bender, Elva Craig, Bessie, Maud and Donna Gates, Lulu Lorhter, Gwyn Storritt, Emma Bryan, Jennie Paul, Ethel Bigger, Lawrence Bigger, Fred Dryle, Hugh Pritchard, John McCain, George Smith, Lacy Lickenwalter, Clyde Whiteleather, Elmer Whiteleather, Adolph Miller.

The fourth social meeting of the Wit and Wisdom club was held last evening at the home of Mrs. J. T. Wing, and the hostesses on this pleasant occasion were Mesdames J. P. Wing, A. O. Watterman, B. V. Swearingen and O. N. Heaton. The house was prettily decorated with the club colors, yellow and white, and the rooms were fragrant with the odor of roses and carnations. Several games of progressive pedro served as the principal amusement of the evening and the most successful players were Mrs. Frank Foole and Mr. J. D. Gumpper. The ladies' prize was a beautiful silver hair ornament, and the gentlemen's, two volumes of Emerson's essays. The consolation prizes were awarded Mrs. W. H. McDermut and Mr. S. C. Henderson. The luncheon served at the conclusion of the games was delicious. Those present were: Messrs and Mesdames J. A. Shepard, S. D. Rogers, G. W. Clayton, W. H. McDermut, P. J. H. Meyers, S. C. Henderson, O. H. Farwell, Hiff Wesley, J. B. Cheesman, S. S. Fowler, D. L. Warner, Misses J. H. Leonard and C. E. Swann.

Last evening at the Wayne street M. E. church, Miss Franc Baker, of Detroit, delivered an address on missionary work, the occasion being the silver anniversary and thank-offering service of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society. She spoke in an interesting way of the missions of China and India and the work of the church generally in missionary fields and closed with a forcible appeal for help and renewed efforts in the work of converting the great heathen field. As a result over $90 was raised at the collection taken, eleven new members added to the society and twenty women took out life cards. Before the address Mrs. L. R. Hartman, the treasurer of the society, read her report of the work done by the local branch, giving a number of interesting details. Her report showed the society to be in a flourishing condition, having raised $170 for foreign missions during the year, which was increased last evening to $260. This work reflects credit upon the officers and members of the society. Miss Baker was the guest of Mrs. Hartman while in the city.

FIVE FINE OPINIONS.

Letters From Two Ladies, a Doctor and Two Druggists.

TIMELY AND TRUTHFUL.

Such Frank and Outspoken Words Are Seldom Read.

Here is some interesting correspondence that we want you to read. The letters were sent voluntarily and speak for themselves. They will be found valuable:

GENEVA, N. Y., Feb. 8, 1894.
Pre-Digested Food Co., New York.
GENTLEMEN:—Two of our best ladies told me this week, one that she had gained five pounds and the other two pounds entirely through the use of your great food, Paskola. There is a strong desire among good women to be plump and of good weight. I know there is a great future for Paskola.
Yours truly,
J. C. KENYON, Druggist.

STAUNTON, Pa., Feb. 9, 1894.
GENTLEMEN:—My wife has been an invalid for twelve years and has doctored with a number of physicians, but she never received any good results until she began taking Paskola. She is now beginning her fourth bottle and I would not take $25.00 for the benefit it has already done her. She is like a new woman in every way. I take pleasure in recommending it to the public. Yours truly,
G. M. SHOEMAKER.

The following was sent by R. L. Estee, druggist, Fairport, N. Y.:

FAIRPORT, N. Y., Jan. 29, 1894.
DEAR SIR:—Paskola is doing me a great deal of good. For two or three years I have suffered more or less from imperfect digestion and neuralgia. Since taking Paskola my digestion has been much improved and neuralgia greatly relieved. This speaks well for the short time I have used Paskola. Yours truly,
EDWIN M. ESTEE.

GENEVA, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1894.
DRUGGISTS:—Please send me two dozen bottles of Paskola. Enclosed please find check on account.
Yours truly,
C. H. BURTON, Druggist.

P. S.—A young lady just in reports a gain of five pounds after the usual two or three small bottles of Paskola.

CHITTAKA MINN., Dec. 2, 1893.
Pre-Digested Food Co., New York.
GENTLEMEN:—It gives me great pleasure to speak in the highest terms of your delightful preparation, Paskola. I have lately prescribed it for one of my lady patients and I am greatly surprised at its wonderful power as a flesh producer. The young lady has been out of health and losing flesh. She began taking Paskola as directed. Her weight was 105 pounds; she has taken four bottles and now weighs 109 pounds and is looking much improved. Says she feels like a new creature. I believe this change has been brought about by Paskola. Respectfully yours,
O. W. BARCORE, M. D.

The parties who write the above letters are people of standing in the places where they reside and would not deceive the sick and feeble by false statements.

Many doctors and other people write and ask us what Paskola is made of and how it is that it can so often bring a person back to health when drugs have proved of no avail. Paskola is a pure pre-digested starch food. It is made of the finest grains and cereals, combined with the natural digestive ferments used by nature to digest other food.

It is not a medicine and it contains no medicine. It is simply a delicious food artificially digested.

That is the reason it will do good when drugs will not. It doesn't upset your stomach; it helps it. Paskola feeds your system and makes you fat when your digestive organs are too sick to attend to your wants.

Good food strengthens and invigorates a tired body, but only after it has been digested and absorbed.

The same result is observed with Paskola, but as Paskola is predigested and is absorbed almost as soon as swallowed, the effect is much more instantaneous. Paskola refreshes and invigorates a weak system or a tired frame like magic.

A pamphlet giving full particulars respecting Paskola will be sent on application to the Pre-Digested Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York city.

WAIT.

We are fast removing the debris from our late store, stocks of children's shoes which will be stocked and ready for sale the first of next week. Wait for good shoes, at prices never before heard of in the shoe trade.
VORDERMARK'S.

By request, I will remain one more week to accommodate those who I have turned away on account of having more callers than I could see. Will be at 179 West Washington street after March 12. My visit will be for a short time only.

HELP! ❋ HELP!

We Have Jumped the Last Ditch!

Our Final Hope is Gone.

BLUE! BLUE! BLUE!

Everything looks blue. We had hoped to make arrangements with Mr. Henry Williams for the lease of the Arcade, and to transfer our stock there, but as the Arcade is tied up by leases for most all the rooms we cannot get it. The bank people are clamoring louder than ever for possession of our room. Measurements have been taken and they want to commence the construction of the vaults for the bank. Out! Out! We will be thrown bag and baggage unless we vacate soon. Unload we must our entire stock in a hurry, or else send it away to the eastern auctions, there to be slaughtered, and perhaps never get returns for half what has been sent. Such desperate straits require desperate remedies. The crowds that flock to our place attest to the wonderful bargains now being offered. Don't you hold off. The stock is decreasing and the prices cannot be lowered unless we give everything away. We are next door to this now.

Read what we are doing in SOUND, PERFECT MERCHANDISE, and consider what folly it is to buy damaged, water-soaked and dilapidated plunder for double the prices you pay us for clean, nice, new fresh goods.

Price list of some of our sound, perfect goods, which is offered until sold. Some lots are small others large. No assurance, however, that we can furnish any of the goods longer than the day after the publication. Therefore, come early. The morning hours clean out many lots. Buy everything you want for years ahead for such opportunities come but once in a lifetime.
